Ginny Senande -> All Participants: A NJ K-8 district plan: <https://www.rivervaleschools.com/cms/One.aspx?portalId=146193~38amp;pageId=32090736>

Ariel Cain -> All Participants: <https://www.fcps.edu/news/coronavirus-update-academics-distance>

Andrea Schueler -> All Participants: We are just beginning, but my favorite part of our district plan so far is having teachers/staff reach out to every single student via phone to determine needs for food and computer/internet access as we prepare our distance learning plans. In MN we have 8 days of no instruction per the governor to put our plan in place for instruction beginning Mar 30.

Dana Watts -> All Participants: These are online learning guides and resources from International Schools that have bene teaching online since January: a Google Drive folder <https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1VipbmytyUVINjIQ2VsxS5zezVgsfUFJb>

angelique hamilton -> All Participants: Yes! Would you please share the toolkit?

Maribeth Edmunds -> All Participants: Love the idea of a tool kit!!!!

Ginny Senande -> All Participants: Hi Nikki! Teachers connecting virtually as teams is very ad hoc at this point in my districts

Dana Watts -> All Participants: These resources are getting updated weekly: <https://www.iss.edu/community/online-learning>

Kelly Wegley -> All Participants: We are being careful not to overwhelm students and families - many parents are also working from home, device time and bandwidth may be at a premium, etc.

Elizabeth Foster -> All Participants: Billie Donegan: we are going to address the questions submitted before the webinar.

John Parker -> All Participants: We are happy to share our resources since going to full scale distance learning if anyone is interested janet fisher -> All Participants: how do you accomodate FAPE requirements?

Casey Roberts -> All Participants: Will these slides be shared with the group?

Andrea Grannum Mosley -> All Participants: Comcast Internet Essentials provides low-income individuals and families with internet access. In response to COVID-19, Comcast is increasing speed for existing members and offering 60 days of free internet access for new members. At this time the internet may be crucial for people to stay connected and informed since public interaction is limited. <https://www.internetessentials.com/>

Joni Tolon -> All Participants: How are you providing specially designed instruction for your students in special education and what resources are being used to provide SDI for equitable practices?

Karen Chase -> All Participants: You are talking about phased plans. I'm in Minnesota and our district has given the teachers the charge of being ready for distance learning by the 30th. You mentioned instruction coming eventually - when would that begin?

Alisa Quest -> All Participants: Here is another great resource: www.hmhco.com/coronavirus

Brian Scott -> All Participants: Indiana just extended closure until May 1. They also gave 20 waiver days and most districts our out a week or two for Spring between now and then. The first district that closed just announced that they are alternating e-learning with waiver days beginning April 6 (after the break). That will take them to the last day of school. They tok advantae of the waiver and gave relief to teachers, students, and families.

Bryan Dunn -> All Participants: <https://www.theedublogger.com/teaching-online-school-closures/#daily> This is a great resource for considering structure and organization at classroom teacher level.

Becky C. -> All Participants: We are doing announcements everyday, spirit days, read alouds

Elizabeth Foster -> All Participants: Thank you for all the wonderful resources you all are adding in this chat box!

Becky C. -> All Participants: Does anyone have insights into assessing online for elementary?

Nicole Burrell -> All Participants: Yes Billie!

angelique hamilton -> All Participants: Has anyone considered grading for students who may be out of school for the duration of the schoolyear?

Douglas Watkins -> All Participants: everyone gets As

Jessica Miguez -> All Participants: Some of our districts are having a tough time coming up with jobs for non-custodial support staff to do from a closed school, or from an alternate location. A few of our support staff local associations have come up with lists of jobs they've come up with that they could do.

Brian Scott -> All Participants: Indiana dropped statewide testing for this year.

Nicole Burrell -> All Participants: Same with Colorado

Dana Watts -> All Participants: Yes - they are willing to help and we are putting together webinars with our international teachers to help US teachers who are just getting there now

Billi Huffman -> All Participants: how is FAPE being provided for students with special needs in the 1%, that cannot access their education through online learning?

Christina Derr -> All Participants: What are you preparing for your low functioning population that might not be able to attend to an online platform?

Elita Driskill -> All Participants: Texas waived testing this year also.

Marcy Hessinger -> All Participants: This is a time to focus on feedback FOR learning and may be an opportunity to move away from the practice of just grading for the sake of grading.

angelique hamilton -> All Participants: I LOVE your advice...grading is NOT equitable...focus on the learning!

Danielle Curzi -> All Participants: Ditto to all above in regards to FAPE

Jessica Minguez -> All Participants: Silver lining: internet being discussed as a utility, not a luxury.

Michel Davis Robinson -> All Participants: How can art teachers stay connected to students when we have large qty of students on our roster and maybe in more than one school?

Dana Watts -> All Participants: The move to online learning and virtual schools is pushing assessment literacy. This is a watershed moment in education and assessment. Nothing will be the same after this for our schools.

Donna Mitchell-Cox -> All Participants: And music Teachers staying connected? Any suggestions for a 6-week in teacher would be appreciated!!

Michelle Bowman -> All Participants: I've recently finished Dan Heath's new book -- Upstream: The Quest to Solve Problems Before They Happen --> The time is now to go further upstream and create solutions to the problems in this arena that have not happened, so that they might not happen.

Dana Watts -> All Participants: I am trying to connect our international teachers who have been teaching online with new emerging online educators - please feel free to share this form so I can try to help them: <http://bit.ly/Looking4OnlineMentorship>

Elizabeth Foster -> All Participants: Yes we will add resources from this chat box! It is a gold mine :)

Kim Haden -> All Participants: I think it's important to keep in mind that many of those resources being shared right now are really intended for PARENTS to help them navigate this ~38quot;home schooling while teleworking~38quot; situation they were thrown into. Those resources are just triage. Our school systems have a curriculumm, we have to figure out how we are going to get it to our students.

Jennifer Wazlawik -> All Participants: Is it possible to save this chat at the end of the webinar? It would be great to capture the links, questions, etc. If so, can someone share how to do that in Webex? Thanks!

Janice Bradley -> All Participants: Thank you for sharing current thinking, experiences and knowledge. Much appreciated.

Karen Ladley -> All Participants: Work in shifts and use cellphones for virtual education when possible.
