

Learning Forward, a leader in the design of high-quality professional learning and facilitation of practitioner networks, invites you to join a new network for teams of state and district leaders.

DESIGN PROFESSIONAL LEARNING FOR A VIRTUAL WORLD

Professional learning has never been more important as schools and districts design and implement, in real time, new models for learning during and after this pandemic. As schools face new and changing conditions, educators are responsible for ensuring that student learning continues as they themselves adapt to online, remote or hybrid learning. Now is the time to capture lessons learned from the emergency shift to inform the improvement of professional learning utilizing virtual and digital-mediated educational models. Invest in your educators now to maximize success in the coming school year.

Join a network of state and district teams, led by Learning Forward, to address your current challenges related to the design, implementation, and measurement of professional learning in virtual and digital models. Collaborate with like-minded leaders as you solve your own state's immediate and long-term challenges, expand your professional learning network, and ensure that your time and money have the biggest impact possible. Invest in your educators' professional learning today, support them through re-entry, and build for their long-term needs.

OUTCOMES FOR YOUR STATE:

- A contextualized, comprehensive professional learning plan focused on outcomes within and across your districts
- Sustainable solutions for your districts' immediate challenges and for a professional learning infrastructure that transcends COVID
- Solutions aligned to your state strategic plans that work across divisions
- Increased capacity to create policies and practices for effective professional learning
- Access to professional learning tools and resources aligned to the Learning Forward Standards for Professional Learning
- Collaboration and critical-friend relationships with leaders from like-minded states
- Understanding of how short-term COVID lessons can inform long-term professional learning plans
- Professional learning that is focused on equity through innovative strategies

Unlike organizations focused on online delivery, Learning Forward's expertise is in designing and facilitating effective, outcomes-oriented professional learning that addresses immediate needs and plans for the long term. Our facilitated networks encourage learning alongside peer leadership teams as you design, implement, and assess professional learning through continuous improvement.

Note: Education Stabilization Funds through the CARES Act can support participation in this network.

PARTICIPANT TEAMS

State teams include 4-5 division-level directors responsible for professional learning, academics, technology integration, assessment, and leadership. Teams will be encouraged to bridge silos and model collaboration.

STRUCTURE

The Design Professional Learning in a Virtual World Network will advance through three stages:

1

Support re-entry in the fall in virtual and hybrid learning environments;

2

Respond, recover and maximize learning during the school year; and

3

Reinvent professional learning to acknowledge and embrace new learning models.

Onboarding begins in July, 2020, in preparation for a collaborative virtual session in September, 2020. Network collaboration continues through June 2021.

INCLUDED

- Development of an ongoing professional learning plan for your state
- Integrated needs assessment at each stage including 1:1 interviews, focus groups, and survey instruments
- Support to compile data and share with the state team to inform professional learning planning
- Facilitated team and network time for learning and design
- Virtual engagement and access to resources through an online community
- Opportunity to be featured in Learning Forward communications and publications
- Comprehensive Learning Forward memberships for team members

CADENCE

- Onboarding and at least monthly virtual call with a Learning Forward coach for:
 - ongoing technical assistance and consultation to review needs assessment and
 - development of district professional learning plan using Learning Forward standards, tools and resources
- Facilitated professional learning related to outcomes aligned to focus areas
- Quarterly virtual, facilitated team and peer-to-peer check-ins
- Quarterly webinars featuring thought leaders tied to network challenges
- Three one-day virtual network convenings
- Dedicated team planning time with facilitator support

WHAT IS THE COST?

There is a $19,500 annual fee per team.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

Paul Fleming, Senior Vice President, Standards, States & Equity, paul.fleming@learningforward.org

Melinda George, Chief Policy Officer, melinda.george@learningforward.org

THE PROFESSIONAL LEARNING ASSOCIATION

www.learningforward.org